

DATRON: Terms of Use, Homepage

General declaration: DATRON maintains this website with the following terms of use:

By visiting our website or other parts of our Internet presence and/or shopping at our online shop, you accept this agreement. If you do not want to accept this agreement, we request you do not visit our website and do not download any material from this website.

Copyrights, brands, patents and other trademark rights: This website contains data, information and symbols of all sorts which are protected by intellectual property rights for DATRON or, in some cases, for third parties. Furthermore there are many products shown on the website which are protected by patent, design patent or petty patent laws. Unauthorised use of brands, copyrights and other intellectual property rights is not allowed and represents an infringement on the brands, copyrights and other intellectual property rights.

Licences and website access: DATRON permits you limited access and allows you to use this website for your personal use. Copying which is technically required for browsing is permitted as long as these actions do not serve any commercial purpose.

Otherwise the downloading of contents and their whole or partial modification requires the prior written permission of DATRON. This permission does not apply for the use of this website or its contents for commercial purposes, and in particular not for resale use. Any type of data collection as well as every use of product lists, descriptions, applications or pricing information as well as the creation and obtaining of data is forbidden. This website or its components may not be reproduced, copied, duplicated or sold without prior written permission of DATRON or otherwise used for commercial purposes. The aforementioned limitations do not in any way affect your right to reproduce, download, copy, duplicate or print data from this website as long as this is done for the purpose of assisting in the application, use, handling, sale, installation or the resale of our products, provided these products have been legally acquired. You may only use this website for legally permitted purposes.

Access to other websites: The placement of a link to another website ("hyperlink") does not make DATRON the owner of that website or its contents. Furthermore, DATRON is not responsible for the availability of that website or its contents. DATRON accepts no liability for damage or injuries – of any sort – that arise from use of such contents. Hyperlink connections to these websites are made entirely at the user's own risk.

Product description: DATRON endeavours to maintain product descriptions which are as precise and current as possible. Despite this, DATRON makes no warrantee within legally admissible limits that the product descriptions on this website or the other contents of this website are exact, reliable, current, complete as well as error-free.

Sale of DATRON products: The current DATRON General Terms & Conditions of Delivery and Payment apply to the sale of our products.

Exclusion of warranty and limitation of liability: You expressly acknowledge that you alone are responsible for the use of the website. The information and specifications contained on this website do not represent any warranty or guarantee, either express or implied. In particular, it does not express an implied warranty or guarantee concerning the condition, marketability, suitability for a certain purpose or a non-violation against laws and patents. For this reason, DATRON recommends verifying any information obtained from this website prior to its use. DATRON does not guarantee that this website, the server or E-Mails which are sent by DATRON are free of viruses or other harmful components. DATRON is not liable for damage of any sort arising from the use of the website. DATRON is not responsible for loss of access to this website caused by technical malfunction.

Applicable law and place of jurisdiction: By visiting our website or our online shop, you declare that you agree to the applicability of the law of the Federal Republic of Germany law with the exception of German IRP regulations to these terms of use as well as in respect to disputes of any kind between you and DATRON. The provisions of the UN law on sales shall not apply. The place of jurisdiction for all disputes is Darmstadt, in so far as the user is a commercial businessman, legal entity under public law or public special estate.

Management of the website: We reserve the right to entirely or partially end or modify the operation of this website. Beyond this, we reserve the right to modify our products as well as the management and terms of use of our website at any time. For this reason, please keep these terms of use in mind the next time you visit our website.